A Change at the Postoffice.

A Change at the Postoffice.

Mr. Ed, Carlin, for several years a clerk in the distributing department of the Wheeling Postoffice, received notice yesterday that Postmaster Simpeon had decided that Postmaster Simpeon had decided that he was an offensive partisan to a degree that would justify his removal, and his services would therefore be dispensed with after April 1. Mr. George Matheson, fr., takes the place thus wasted, on that date. Though known as a partisan, Mr. Matheson is a Democrat, and therefore not "offensive."

The Board of County Commissioners' Committee on Public Building alteration, met yesterday, and decided that the extra thick walls contemplated in the specification for the fire proof vanits should be built. Some talk has been indulged in on this subject, and a motion was made to abandon this plan, but it was thought best to make the walls thick. The work of doing the necessary plumbing and gas and steam fitting was given to Oscar Seeley, no bids being solicited. The work in the city's end of the building was done on the same system.

Mesars Geo. M. Woodbridge and Jas. C. Tallman, of Bellaire, on Tuesday conducted a case of considerable interest before Squire Hart, of Powhatan. Shortly before Christmas a child named Nannie Hicks, who had been taken from the Children's Home at Barnesville by Mrs. Riggs, wife of Dr. Riggs, of Powhatan, a member of the Board of Pension Examiners of Belmont county, died and was buried. It was rumored that the child had not met with a natural death, but that its demise was due to cruel treatment at the hands of Mrs. Riggs, and the body was disinterred and a post mertem examination held. Tuesday was the day set for the trial, and Mrs. Riggs was acquitted. The trial attracted much attention, owing to the prominence of the parties involved.

Captain All. Burnest, of Charleston, the well known and popular chief of the Eureka Detective Agency, and Miss Fannie Norris, of Willow Land (Waverly), were married last evening at the residence of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Woods, of Parkersburg, in the presence of a largumber of guests from that city and the surrounding country. The presents were many and elegant and the occasion was one generally enjoyed. Captain and Mrs. Burnett left after the ceremony for Cincinnati and western points on a short bridal tour, at the conclusion of which they will go to house keeping at Charlescon. Recently a man from Michigan arrived here with two car loads of potatoes, one car containing 500 bushels and the other oile, as he said. Parker Bros. bought the larger car, and got the bill of lading. The Michigan man then started for Bellaire with the car called for by their bill, leaving the smaller one. The B. & O. brought back the car, and the firm statched both cars. Then the Michigander, who evidently thought the Parkers were geese, claimed that the car he had taken was the smaller one. However, the Parkers, whose purchase was on a basis of 580 bushels, unloaded their car and found it contained nearly 600 bushels. The Michigander, Arkle's court and left with something less than 500 bushels of potatoes.

Cupt. B. B. Dovener the detense. Jennie (iray, a woman well known to the police, lives over the basement in which Mc-Cord made his cizars. She told of having seen him at work frequently in the roem. Several boys seemed to be employed about the place, and a man named Dick Pugh lived with McCord. She had seen an iron burning brand in the room, which she pointed out in the court.

Dick Pugh testified that he ste and slept in the room in which McCord worked. He slept on a cot and ate whenever he could get anything to eat. He had seen McCord make cigars, and had seen slogies in such boxes as were exhibited in court—pasteboard boxes holding one hundred stogies each. Pugh said he was "a piece of a bricklayer" by vocation.

A boy named Gray, who lives in the same house, said McCord always kept his door locked till one day when Pugh came out to get coal. Then the witness went in. McCord was working at his bench, making stogies. There was quite a lot of stogies around. The boy Neiswanger lived with McCord, sleeping with Pugh in the shop at night. He lived at St. Clairsville but spent most of his time here. Neiswanger was skillful with his pencil and pen; he would frequently go out saying he was going to the river to draw a steamboat. considerable interest.

John Foster, an old experienced railroad man, acting in the capacity of a brakeman, yesterday met with a serious accident while coupling cars at this station. The freight train was switching cars on a track in which there is a curve, and by some means Mr. Foster got on the wrong side in making the coupling and was caught between the cars, squeezing his body in a manner that may prove fatal by internal injury. He was at once taken to Bridgeport, where he was examined and treated by Dr. J. M. Todd, the company's surgeon, who ordered him to be removed to his home in Bellaire, where he lies in a critical condition, with the chances of recovery against him. His wounds being internal, of course the extent can not be determined for a few days.

Paris, March 17.—The civil contract of marriage between Miss Christmas, an American young lady, and the Marquis D'Aulan, was signed last Monday, Prince Victor Napoleon and many other prominent Bonapartists attended the contract party. United States Minister McLane acted as witness for the bride-groom's witnesses were the Duke of Padua and Viscount Suarez D'Aulan, one of the attentes of the Franch Embrasey at Rev. attaches of the French Embassy at Ber-lin. The marriage is the result of a love match. Contrary to the general rule the noble bridegroom is the possessor of a large fortune, while the American bride is dowerless.

BERLIN, March 17 .- The Rt. Rev. Dr. opp, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Fulis and present leader of the Catholic party in the Upper House of the German Parliament, has been instructed by Cardinal Jacobini, papal Secretary of State, to obtain the largest concession possible from the German crown in the new ecclesiastical bill, but to do nothing which will endanger the success of the measure, the passage of which the Cardinal save seen passage of which, the Cardinal says, even inaltered, will be a distinct gain for the
